

CHS

Volume 2, Issue 5 January 2005

High School Teacher of the Year is Miss Bliesath

Prom

The Junior/Senior Prom will be held on April 22, 2005 at the NEO Ballroom. All dates must be paid for by Spring Break.

Students Will Be Published Again

We are very proud of several of Miss Bliesath's students for being selected for publication once again. Thirteen of her students submitted poems to a national publication. Eight of the 13 were selected to appear in that work this spring. This will be her second time to have students in that publication.

Many of the students will also be submitting their work to a contest in Grove this spring. The students will have to read their poems out loud before an audience, but they have the chance to win a $200 cash prize. Students are encouraged to write and submit poems to several contests.

OCTOBER CALENDAR

Basketball	Homecoming Friday at 6:00 Assembly at 2:45
NEO	Basketball Tournament
4-H	Looking for Recipes for a cook book
FCA	OU Game
FCCLA	Blue and Gold Deliveries Blood Drive

Make plans to give blood at the February Blood drive. If you have not done so in the past, you should try it this year.

FCA to OU Game

Our Fellowship of Christian Athletes attended a rally on Saturday, January 8, 2005. They also attended an OU Basketball game. Eighteen students and five sponsors traveled by bus to Norman for the game and rally. Students paid $10 to attend.

4-H Meeting

The monthly meeting was held on January 9, 2005. The members agreed to continue gathering recipes for a cookbook that will be sold at a later date. The guest speaker was Jennifer Steinbeck who is a student at OSU veterinary college. She spoke to the group about finding pigs for show. The group also decided to create walking stones and deer antler lamps for the fair. Members will be attending a Speech and Demonstration competition in Fairland on February 15. At the next meeting members will be encouraged to try their speeches.

Basketball Team

The High School boys basketball team has had a great season this year. They won the Foyil Tournament. Klint Reading, Logan Cawyer, and Damyon Dooley were named to the all tournament team.

Homecoming will be held this week. Friday during the day and assembly will be held at the High School in the Gym. A Queen will be crowned at 6:30 that evening.